Intensive English Institute

Division of English as an International Language

Study English at the University of Illinois!

The University of Illinois

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is a major center for education and research in the Midwest. It is located in the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign, 120 miles south of Chicago, Illinois. The campus extends over 639 acres in the heart of central Illinois farm land.

The Intensive English Institute

The Intensive English Institute is a noncredit intensive language program offered by the Division of English as an International Language and the Office of Continuing Education and Public Service. The program is designed (1) for foreign students already accepted in an American college or university, or seeking admission to such an institution, (2) for visiting foreign scholars and lecturers, and (3) for other individuals whose professional objectives require proficiency in English.

A professional staff, along with the facilities and resources of this University, provide instruction at all levels of English language proficiency: elementary, intermediate, and advanced.

The University of Illinois has offered English as a Second Language instruction since the spring of 1947 and has had an intensive language program since 1967.

Facilities

Participants in the Intensive English Institute have access to the many recreational facilities on campus, such as swimming pools, tennis courts, golf courses, soccer field, and ice skating rink, as well as the various student union rooms, lounges, snack bar, cafeteria, dining rooms, and games, billiard, and bowling areas.

Campus activities range from competitive intramural and intracollegiate sports to lecture series, campus movies, amateur and professional plays, dance performances, and concerts.

The Program

The IEI program consists of two semester sessions—Fall and Spring. Each session is 16 weeks long. There is an additional eight-week term during the Summer from June to August. Classes meet four or five hours daily with additional practice in the language and computer (PLATO) laboratories. Students may register in successive terms until they have achieved the necessary English proficiency to meet their needs. Students holding F-1 visas are required to attend a minimum of four classes daily.

At each proficiency level, the IEI curriculum consists of four basic language skill courses; English Structure, Composition, Reading and Listening/Speaking. In addition students are scheduled into an oral production (speaking) laboratory class and a listening/speaking laboratory class. Each week IEI students have a minimum of four hours of computer-assisted instruction on PLATO.

Students are assigned to proficiency levels based on the results of the University of Illinois English Placement test. Average class size is between 12 to 15 students. Students receive certificates of successful attendance upon completing each term.

Highlights of the IEI Program:

- Computer-assisted instruction on PLATO (Programmed Logic for Automatic Teaching Operations)
- Individualized assignments to extend instruction into the world outside the classroom
- Field trips of general and educational interest which provide orientation and communication practice
- Access to the University of Illinois Library, the largest state university library and the third largest of all university libraries in the nation
- The University of Illinois English Placement Test administered at the beginning of each term to determine appropriate course assignment
- A minimum of twenty hours per week of instruction, including practice in listening, speaking, reading, and writing in meaningful contexts
- Language laboratory
- Automatic weekly telephone lessons available through direct dialing in the home twenty-four hours per day
- As appropriate, opportunities to audit courses in relevant academic fields
- A standardized test of English proficiency (TOEFL: Test of English as a Foreign Language) at the beginning and end of the term.
- An end-of-term report evaluating proficiency and performance with recommendations concerning further study

Facts You Need To Know

Admission

Applicants to the Intensive English Institute must have successfully completed at least secondary school or its equivalent. Official English language versions of transcripts for secondary and college/university work should be submitted with the application. These are evaluated before admission is granted. The applicant is also requested to provide some indication of his current proficiency in English if possible.

Admission is restricted to applicants who can present evidence of sufficient financial support to cover all expenses during their study at the Institute. A letter, usually from a bank, should be enclosed verifying that support. Scholarship students must also send a letter from the source of that scholarship (school, government, other) stating that the scholarship covers the cost of the program at the Intensive English Institute, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Admission to the Institute does not necessarily constitute admission to the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. A separate evaluation of the materials submitted is made for admission to the University (see above).

Visa

On receipt and approval of the student's application, the Intensive English Institute will forward to the applicant a Certificate of Eligibility, Form I-20. This form enables the applicant to apply for a student visa at the nearest U.S. consulate. The Certificate of Eligibility (Form I-20) is issued for a full-time, intensive course of study at the Intensive English Institute, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and may not be used elsewhere for any other purpose.

IEI Special Programs:

The Intensive English Institute at the University of Illinois is proud of its language training program. Because of the substantial library and other academic facilities provided by the university and our varied language program, we encourage academic and cultural organizations, embassies, foreign universities and other interested groups to consider arranging special programs for their students with our institute. We will set up special programs and/or specific courses for groups of sponsored students. Currently, we provide GMAT classes and business reading classes for Business Administration students from Saudi Arabia, special business communication classes for Korean and Japanese professional businessmen, and cultural communication classes for two Japanese universities. For further information please write the director of IEI.

Insurance and Health Service

Insurance and student health service are available and are required for participants in the institute. If a student wishes not to participate in the University insurance program, proof of other insurance coverage must be supplied at the time of registration. All students must pay the student health service fee.

Refund Policy

A refund of the charges is possible only if the student officially withdraws from the Institute's program within the first calendar week of a class session. To make such a withdrawal, the student must turn in a written request for a refund to the Institute office before the deadline. Notice of withdrawal must be received at the Institute office within one calendar week of the first day on which a class session at the Institute begins.

The application charge, however, is not refundable. Also, if a student withdraws at any time after the first calendar week of a class session at the Institute, none of the charges for the course can be refunded.

Student Services

IEI fees include all student services: orientation and reception, student parties, immigration advising (the IEI staff includes a full-time Foreign Student Adviser), personal counseling and college placement assistance.
